PROFESSIONAL STATEMENT

I have spent 17 years in retail optical management and business to business sales. That said, I have always wanted to be the magician on the other side of the computer screen. So, I decided to become a web developer. I made a decision to complete the pursuit of a passion I have had for many years. To do something I enjoy that is both challenging and rewarding. I am a detail oriented and highly adaptable professional with deep understanding of developing, testing, and deploying software and web-based applications. I have the ability to leverage my retail, management, and B2B experience to build responsive and user-centered web designs.

EXPERIENCE

L'Amy America, GA Market — District Sales Manager

AUGUST 2016 - PRESENT

Managed client frame boards to maximize high sell through and increased visibility. Offer client support through product education, sells training, and display marketing. Also, made opportunity calls to acquire new accounts.

Optix Consulting Group, GA Market — Owner

FEBRUARY 2016 - OCTOBER 2016

Offered support to private doctors offices to help manage day to day activities. Increase profits by highlighting areas of opportunity. Made office visits to attract new clients. Used Social Media to increase company awareness.

EDUCATION

Covalence — Full Stack Developer

JUNE 2018 - SEPTEMBER 2018

I learned the essentials of front-end, back-end, and database development, and focus on technologies like JavaScript and HTML/CSS, responsive design, OOP, and JavaScript frameworks. After successfully graduating I am prepared for junior-level software development opportunities.
